William Barnes, thirty-four, coal dealer at No. 22 Chelsea street, East Boston, struggled with a gunny sack of coal.

"Let me weigh that," the officer demanded.

The gross was 15 pounds. The wet sack weighed 13 pounds.

Today Judge Charles J. Brown, in East Boston Court, listened to the evidence, then said:

"I find this defendant guilty of the charge of fraud and deceit, still I am going to continue this case until tomorrow."

BRICKLEY TELLS OF MONEY

Council President Before Fin. Com. Inquiry Into the Graft Charges

President David J. Brickley of the City Council and Councilor William J. Walsh told the Finance Commission today their own stories of where they got bank deposits which the commission is investigating in its inquiry into alleged graft in the Baldwin place playground deal.

President, Brickley explained his deposit of $700 August 10 by saying he received the money the day before, $325 from the Film Exchange of Arlington street for auto repairs, and $400 from William Skahan of Pemberton square in repayment of a loan Brickley had made to a man named Jacob.

Councilor Walsh accounted for a $400 deposit he made September 8 thus:

From Judge Thomas E. Connolly of Brighton—$100, in part payment of a $500 loan.

From Charles F. Campbell—$40. From Mr. Harris of Brighton—$50, repayment on a loan.

CHARGES DISCREPANCY. Attorney John C. L. Dowling, counsel for the Finance Commission, declared Mr. Brickley's accounting today differed from one he gave at a private hearing before the commission. Reading from records of the private hearing, Mr. Dowling said:

"Your statements, Mr. Brickley, are materially different now from the explanation you made at the private hearing before the Finance Commission. You were shown a deposit slip on the Old Colony Trust Company and asked how you got the money. You replied that you couldn't recall, unless it was from your business. Further questioned you said that it could only be from continued on Page 6, Column 1."

Charles V. Knightly, member of the Corner Store Welfare League, today pleaded guilty to the larceny of $1,500 from Florence Chalmers of 29 Romney street, Roxbury, when his trial opened before Judge Dubouss in Suffolk Superior Court.

Witnesses were ready to testify that he had obtained liberty bonds and money for the release of immigrants from East Boston station and Ellis Island and then never returned the funds or helped the person defrauded.

The league was advertised by Knightly as solely for the purpose of aiding immigrants.

BETHLEHEM STEEL TO GET TWO MORE

New York, Nov. 28.—"Hello, U. S. A." was written in white letters a mile long across the pale blue of a winter sky above lower New York today.

The writing was at a height of 10,000 feet.

Traffic was tied up as thousands stopped to watch the white scroll and barely discern the airplane which trailed the lines like a chalk mark behind it.

In Battle for Life

JOSEPH C. PELLETIER, former district attorney of Suffolk County, is engaged in a grim battle with death, it became known today on the eve of his departure for Europe.

GOING TO GERMANY TO TAKE BATHS IN BATTLE FOR LIFE

By BEST FORD

Joseph C. Pelletier, former district attorney of Suffolk County, is engaged in a grim battle with death, it became known today on the eve of his departure for Europe.

"Joe" as his intimates like best to refer to him, is suffering from diabetes in advanced stage. Specialists told him he would be dead in six months unless he took the baths at Naheim, Germany.

It was because of that verdict that he applied for a passport last week. He will sail on Wednesday, not on a world tour or pleasure trip, as had been generally supposed, but for the purpose of fighting his first round with death.

The specialists who last examined Mr. Pelletier were frank in their diagnoses. They did not mince words nor hold anything from their patients. They told him they could not hope to effect a permanent cure, that the most that could be done was to check the disease, and that heroic methods were necessary to accomplish even that.

"BROKEN" AND SICK. It was a blow to "Joe," a sort of last straw following the succession of reverses of the past twelve months. He told intimates, a very few of whom were aware of the real tragedy, that he was at a loss what to do.

They knew before he told them that he was "broke." He was in a quandary as to what course to take and where to turn when he heard, by accident, from a friend who had taken the baths in Germany, "out the place for you, Joe," said continued on Page 7, Column 1.

EX-PASTOR LEIGH FREED IN SHELTON GIRL CASE

John Furman Leigh, unfrocked Virginia pastor, accused of taking Miss Anna V. Shelton, a Virginia State ward, to Washington for improper purposes, was freed by Federal Commissioner Hayes today for lack of prosecution.

Leigh left court to pursue the "life beautiful" to his fullest.

Mrs. Catherine Leigh, a teacher in the school, where she returned after two years of travel with Leigh.

Leigh still believes the girl trusts him. He is so proud.

Mrs. Leigh said she would get a divorce without delay so Leigh could do the right thing by Miss Shelton. She wishes the two any happiness, if they can get such out of their "stolen life."

Commissioner Hayes gave Leigh a terse warning:

"Go and mend your ways and do whatever you can to right the wrong you have done."

Joseph Leakey, head of the Virginia Home and Industrial School, where Miss Shelton was a ward when she is alleged to have run away with Leigh, was present, but Attorney Joseph Carroll, for the government, explained that the girl was the real victim.

Miss Shelton, according to Leakey, is in Virginia and is in the care of her mother.

Let Them Combine
Earth's 3 Greatest
To Make Men Good Not Easy
His Wife's Face
By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright 1922, Star Company)
THE PRESIDENT and the Attorney General discuss the wisdom of letting the Armour and Morris packing plants combine.

What is there against it? There is nothing the two concerns can do united that they could not do by agreement separately.

While separate, with two sets of wagons, drivers, branch offices, salesmen, etc., the public that buy their products is compelled to pay double overhead charges.

If the country has brains and capacity, it will allow business to get as big as it can, and watch and regulate it.

If it hasn't capacity to watch and regulate a really big business, you may be sure it hasn't the ability to regulate small, separated businesses, or prevent combinations between them.

THE NEWPORT LEAGUE has named the "three greatest men in all history." They put Edison No. 1, Theodore Roosevelt No. 2 and William Shakespeare No. 3. Many selections of "part's greatest men" have been made. This one ought to make Roosevelt himself laugh if he were here.

It will certainly make Edison laugh. He knows that he is one of the world's good and great workers. He knows also that he has the same right to a place among the earth's three greatest men as a carpenter's sap would have to a place among the world's greatest architects.

THE THREE actually greatest in the world's history, in case you have any doubt about it, are Aristotle, Shakespeare, Newton.

JUDGE HURLEY of Chicago, determined to make men moral, will hereafter jail guilty parties male and female, in divorce suits.

It's a lofty thought based on love of purity. But it won't make much difference. Under what is known as the "Bible law," and in accordance with a law that existed before Hammurabi, or any other law, the punishment for such "breaking in" is death. Even that did not make men good.

THE BOY HUAN TUNG, aged seventeen, recently removed from the throne of China, will be married on Friday to a Chinese girl sixteen years old, whose face has never been seen.

She will change her dress several times while the ceremony proceeds—long one, according to the Manchurian custom.

America's husbands will be shocked. Think of marrying a lady whose face you never see until the fatal moment. But, after all, it is the thought back of the face that counts. Many American husbands have seen their wives' faces for more than fifty years and have little idea what is back of those faces. In Continued on Page 6, Column 4.

LEAVES SECOND WIFE CALLS HIM BLACK SHEEP

Blanche Hawn Rash Brimmer Tiernan today found documentary evidence which she asserts proves she was legally free when she married Professor John Tiernan Saturday at South Bend.

Mrs. Tiernan immediately called Professor Tiernan on long distance telephone at South Bend and announced she intended to take legal measures to prevent the setting aside of his divorce with Mrs. Gussie Tiernan.

Blanche discovered that Alfred Brimmer had a wife when he married her and was not divorced until some time later.

She also discovered that when she married Brimmer she had not been divorced from Lloyd Rash, her first husband. Either she, said, would have let her legally free to marry Tiernan.

Mrs. Brimmer asked Professor Tiernan what he intended to do with the evidence she had. He intended to let the matter rest, she said.

Peggy Marsh Admits Six-Months Separation From Young Husband

London, Nov. 28 (By International News Service).—Peggy Marsh, whose low muddies are familiar to two continents, admitted today that she had effected a six months' separation from her husband, ("Buster") Johnson, nephew of former Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland.

Mrs. Marsh said her husband was "temperamental and highly strung." She admitted that her troubles had begun soon after the mysterious wounding of her husband in a hunting accident at the lodge of Jack Clifford in the Adirondacks several months ago. She said she had been exchanging correspondence with her husband, but he had not written for some time.

Mrs. Hall Demands Hearing

Widow of Rector Insists on Having Chance to Tell Her Story

By International News Service. Somerville, N. J., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Frances Noel Stevens Hall suddenly appeared before the Grand Jury investigating the murder of her husband, the Rev. Edward W. Hall, and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills today, and demanded she be given an opportunity to testify.

Mrs. Hall was accompanied by her attorney, Timothy N. McFie, and her constant friend, Miss Sally Peters.

Mrs. Hall was learned on good authority, will take the attitude of a mute suppliant for justice before the Grand Jury and will continue to sit there, hands folded, until the jurors grant her plea.

Mrs. Hall's appearance was most dramatic. No one suspected she had any mental infirmity and special Deputy Attorney-General Wilbur A. Mott, in charge of the prosecution for the state, was taken wholly by surprise.

Mrs. Hall was dressed in black and wore a heavy veil over her face. The party drove up to the Somerset County Courthouse from her residence in New Brunswick and entered the courtroom immediately. It was crowded that the dramatic move was made in an effort to force the Grand Jury to recognize her right to testify.

Mrs. Hall was composed when she entered the courtroom and took her seat in front of the Grand Jury room. She looked rather sad and her attorney was obviously nervous.

Her appearance caused a flurry in the Courtroom and the news that she made the dramatic move spread like wildfire around the town and people rushed to the Courthouse to see her.

The sudden appearance of Mrs. Hall delayed the Grand Jury from convening at its usual hour, the jurors and the prosecutors holding a conference for ten minutes.

The resumption of the investigation, however, was finally unimpeded and the Grand Jury was called into session at its usual hour, the jurors and the prosecutors holding a conference for ten minutes.

BORAH, IN HUB SPIRIT, TOOK EN FIGHT FOR SOVIET RECOGNITION

DRIVE IN SEVATE PLANNED

Campaign to Be Inaugurated to Reverse Policy of United States

Washington, Nov. 28.—A smashing campaign for recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States is about to be inaugurated in and out of the Senate.

In announcing today that he expected to take a leading part in a reversal of the drive to bring about a reversal of the administration in Russian policy, Senator Borah said he intended to put the Russian question squarely up to Congress soon. Senator Borah will address a mass meeting at Boston, Saturday night at which he and other prominent speakers will urge Soviet recognition.

Borah's Russian engagement will prevent his attending the Republican Progressive Conference here on Friday and Saturday in which Senator LaFollette and other Progressives, both Republican and Democratic, will take a leading part.

Recognition of Soviet Russia is an important part of the LaFollette platform and the joint conference are expected to go on record as demanding such action from the government.

"There can be no genuine or lasting peace in Europe as long as a great nation like the United States treats the Soviet as an outcast," said Borah in a statement today. "The United States must recognize a government obviously supported by the great mass of the Russian people," Borah said. "The issue cannot be dodged much longer by the State Department."

SAIOL ACCUSED OF ASSAULTING CAPTAIN

Helena, N. S., Nov. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—A woman, Mrs. S. A. Saylor, was brought here today charged with assault on the captain of the British schooner, Mary Elizabeth, who had refused him a bottle of whiskey. The woman denied the charge.

English Bride

LADY MULHOLLAND

London, Nov. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—One of the most fashionable and distinguished weddings of the present season occurred when Lady Joan Mulholland, lady in waiting to Princess Mary, was joined in marriage to Lord Cavan, chief of the imperial general staff, at St. Mark's Church, Mayfair.

The Prince of Wales, intimate friend of both bride and bridegroom, was the chief guest at the church, attended by Captain Piers Leigh, his chief equerry, who was married last year to Miss Shaughnessy of Kentucky.

Captain Leigh's bride is Lady Joan's dearest friend, and went to Paris with her, aiding in selecting the trousseau.

The Prince of Wales was laughing slightly as a result of his hunting accident a fortnight ago. He occupied a front seat during the service.

In recent years, since the Prince of Wales has been occupying a more prominent position in imperial affairs, Lady Joan Mulholland has been credited with being his social adviser.

Among the distinguished guests were Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Chester, Mr. Robert Horne, Lord Shaftesbury, Lord Chant Lamont, Countess Stafford, Duchess Rutland, Lord and Lady Queensborough, and the Earl of Derby.

COUNCILOR WALSH BEFORE FIN. COM.

your business unless I was gambling, which I usually do."

"You were then asked if you gambled to the extent of $100 often, and you replied, 'Yes'."

Mr. Buckley replied, "Well, I had such short notice to appear at that hearing I again showed my genuine spirit by facing three learned members of the bar. I answered everything to the best of my ability then, but had time to recall nothing."

Statements made at the private hearing by Miss Hurlbush, secretary of the planning board, were read by Attorney Dowling.

"What's that got to do with me? I stick to my statement," replied Mr. Buckley.

Councilman William J. Walsh testified that a deposit of $400 in the American Trust Company on September 8 was money he had kept on hand after Judge Thomas E. Walsh, said to be a loan obtained in May.

Walsh, in explaining his change of vote on the purchase of the property, said he voted against the project on June 7 because "I didn't look right."

Later, he changed his vote, because Patrick A. Collins, a postoffice employee, told him that it was a good thing.

Attorney John C. L. Dowling tried to find what Councilor Walsh meant by saying the deal "looked funny" and Walsh replied "there were too many real estate people interested in the proposition."

TELE OF FINANCES
Walsh testified regarding the sale of $300 worth of securities. Most of his dealings were through O'Neil Co. of Wall Street. "The Old Colony Trust Co. and Kidder Peabody Co."

Walsh said he has an account in the American Trust Company. Attorney Dowling asked him if he had ever received a letter from Mr. Pinkham regarding the purchase of the property.

"I never saw Mr. Pinkham until after the hearing several days ago," said Mr. Walsh.

At the start of the day's session Mr. Walsh said he had been a salesman, real estate dealer and government investigator of profiteering.

Mr. Dowling asked: Q.—Do you keep any books of your business transactions, of the money you receive? A.—No.

Q.—Have you any record of how much Mr. Samuels paid you? A.—About $400.

Q.—Did you cash or by check? A.—Both ways.

Q.—Where do you bank? A.—American Trust Company.

Buried Cable Sends Aircraft Safely Across Sahara

Paris, Nov. 28 (By the Associated Press).—By means of a buried cable it is now possible for aircraft to cross the Sahara desert safely, the Academy of Sciences was told today by Admiral Courcier.

An electric current, flowing through the cable, influences delicate apparatus on the plane or airship, so that the pilot is able to tell his exact position at a glance.

from the senators, John Beck, the City Council real estate expert, or others? A.—No.

Q.—Did you talk to any city officials regarding the matter around June 5 or June 27? A.—I can't recall.

Q.—Why did you change your vote when the matter came up on July 31? A.—Because I had been told I was in the wrong to vote against a project that would help the children get more fresh air in a congested part of Boston.

Q.—Who told you that? A.—Mr. Collins, Patrick A. Collins.

Q.—Who is Mr. Collins? A.—A postoffice employee.

Q.—Did you investigate the proposition before you voted in favor? A.—No.

Attorney Dowling asked Mr. Buckley: Q.—Do you recall voting against the loan order? A.—Yes.

Q.—Why did you? A.—I thought they wanted $70,000 for the property which was assessed for $36,000. It was too much money.

Q.—Didn't you read the Mayor's recommendation which stated that the Congress was willing to sell for $50,000? A.—That was one mistake I made. I wasn't interested in the North End. I was interested in my own section, Brickville.

Q.—Why did you later introduce the loan order yourself? A.—I met Miss Hurlbush and she convinced me I was mistaken. A paper I found on my desk, a copy of which each Councilor received, also influenced me.

"Judge Mahan, a friend of mine, spoke to me about it," said Mr. Buckley.

"I realized I had made a mistake and got the order from the clerk and introduced it myself."

Q.—Did you talk with Miss Hurlbush? A.—Yes. Once she came into the Mayor's office when I was acting Mayor. Another time she spoke to me of it while we were in the elevator at City Hall.

Q.—Did she tell you I had made a mistake? A.—Yes.

MYSTERY MAN IS DEAD BY POISON

Remnants of a luncheon were found in the apartment. In a coffee cup poison was found.

Anti-Jewish Riots Close Vienna Universities

Vienna, Nov. 28 (By the Associated Press).—An anti-Semitic demonstration by students has caused the suspension of classes in all the universities. Jewish students were beaten and driven from the buildings. The outbreak occurred simultaneously in all of the many colleges and academies in Vienna.

Christian students presented a memorial demanding that neither Jewish teachers nor students shall exceed 10 per cent. of the number in the universities.

FRANCE READY TO INVAD GERMANY

Paris, Nov. 28 (By the Associated Press).—A plan for direct action by France as a solution of the reparations question was submitted today to the full cabinet, meeting in the Elysee Palace, with President Millerand presiding.

The plan provided for seizure of the Ruhr coal mines and collection of the export taxes in the Ruhr district, together with absolute control of that section of the Rhine frontier occupied by the French military.

GOLD SEEKERS RUSH TO CANADIAN FIELD

Itawa, Nov. 28.—Discovery of gold-bearing quartz near Wrigley and fifty miles up the South Saskatchewan River, a tributary of the Mackenzie, started a rush of claim stakers from Fort Simpson and other trading posts. It was reported here today.

Members of the cabinet refused to discuss the action taken. Marshall Pugh and Major-General Burt, the French chief of staff, understood to have told President Millerand and Premier Poincare at yesterday's meeting that a plan for expanding the military occupation of the right bank of the Rhine had been prepared with the utmost care and that it could be executed within twenty-four hours' notice.

ANY woman may well be seized with anxiety at the first indication that pyorrhea has her marked for its victim.

The normal American makes allowances for many little personal shortcomings. But bad teeth are unforgivable and inexcusable. Better never smile, than show a mouth disfigured by disease or missing teeth and made unpleasant by a bad breath. Nothing more definitely hinders and handicaps a person's personality. Nothing more affects general health.

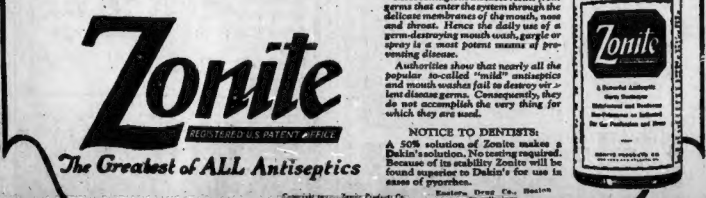

Health and Beauty May Be Wrecked

The most insidious enemy of the teeth is pyorrhea. It is caused by disease germs. You can't get rid of it unless you kill the germs. Frequent use of the tooth brush sometimes spreads the germs and thus increases rather than hinders its development.

The earliest symptoms are tender gums that bleed easily. A tinge of red on the tooth brush or in the saliva is a danger signal. It is a warning that must be heeded or health and beauty may ultimately be wrecked. If the disease is not checked, the gums will recede until the unsightly roots of the teeth are exposed to view. It will be too late to do anything then. The gums can never be replaced.

Serious Complications

Pyorrhea is caused by germs which lodge between the gums and the teeth or are forced there by the tooth brush. These germs form pus pockets which not only eat away the gums and allow the teeth to loosen and fall out but discharge quantities of greenish yellow pus. This pus is inevitably swallowed and, being absorbed by the system, causes headaches, dyspepsia, intestinal disorders and such serious complications as high blood pressure.

many cases that's an excellent thing for the husband's self-interest.

MORE IMPORTANT to you than Mussolini, Lenin, Clemenceau, Kautsky and all the other "sensations" is this: Doctors discover that varicose veins are due to the lack of oxygen in the blood. That lack causes varicose veins and a hundred of other evils not only to the blood from the veins and up to the heart.

DEFECTIVE blood causes varicose veins, because such lungs fail to supply the power that lifts the blood from the veins and up to the heart.

EVERYTHING in the body depends on the lungs and the new life that they give to the blood and the billions of separate body cells with each breath.

Sleep with windows open. Hide on the platform of street cars. In cities where you have the choice take the elevated rather than the subway. And all day long take very deep breaths with your chin pointed upward, at least once in every minute. This applies especially to young ladies that bend over typewriters.

SOME MUSICIAN might write a song about men along the lines of the famous song, "The changeable as a feather in the wind."

Professor Terman of South Bend, Indiana, uses one antiseptic, saying his (Terman's) baby was really the other gentleman's son. Then he left his wife. Then, a few days ago, "while merrily intoxicated," he married Mrs. Blanche B. Terman. His wife's voice is cancelled and he is at home with wife No. 1. He says he will consider "Billy," the baby in dispute, hereafter as his own loving son. "This case is recommended to those that say 'remember never know their own minds.'"

PROFESSOR SEE tells the California Academy of Sciences that he has discovered the cause of gravitation. "Elderly," longer than the beam of light or heat, cause matter to attract other matter. The theory is interestingly presented.

But the actual existence of "ether" has yet to be proved. Newton declared that ether or something like it was necessary to explain gravitation, inasmuch as no force can act through an absolute void. There are no ether in the world of physics.

A Defense At Last

In order to check pyorrhea the germs which cause must be destroyed. Until recently it was almost impossible to do this because all the known antiseptics of sufficient germicidal power to destroy germs were too poisonous for personal use or for use as a mouth wash. On account of its extraordinary germicidal power and non-poisonous, non-caustic properties Zonite can be taken into the mouth in sufficient strength to destroy the disease germs with which it comes in contact. Zonite tests more than twice as powerful as pure carbolic acid. Think of putting carbolic acid into your mouth!

Warning Should Be Heeded

If you have not contracted pyorrhea, Zonite used daily as a mouth wash and to disinfect the tooth brush will prevent the disease. If the red danger signal of tender, bleeding gums has already appeared, begin the use of Zonite immediately. The disease in its early stages has been checked by the use of Zonite in a few days' time and the gums restored to a sound, healthy condition. If, however, the disease is so well established that the germs have worked down towards the roots of the teeth beyond the reach of the antiseptic, dental treatment is absolutely necessary, after which Zonite will aid in preventing its return. All the above statements have been verified by actual laboratory tests made by leading bacteriologists of the country.

Facts About Zonite

Zonite is more than twice as powerful as pure Carbolic Acid.

Zonite has more than forty times the germicidal power of peroxide of hydrogen.

Zonite is the one form of antiseptic which can be freely taken into the mouth as sufficient strength to destroy the disease germs with which it comes in contact.

Most contagious diseases result from germs that enter the system through the delicate membranes of the mouth, nose and throat. Hence the daily use of a germ-killing mouth wash, gargle or spray is a most potent means of preventing disease.

Authorities show that nearly all the popularly-called "mild" antiseptics and mouth washes fail to destroy the most dangerous germs. Consequently, they do not acceptably fulfill the very thing for which they are used.

NOTICE TO DENTISTS:

A 50% solution of Zonite makes a "saline" solution. No test is required. Because of its stability Zonite will be found superior to Dettol's for use in cases of pyorrhea.

him. While awaiting trial only a week ago, he sent her the following telegram, which he says Anna never received, because it was intercepted. "Dearest little girl, don't worry. The day will come when you will know that I will love you forever."

Although he says this message was intercepted and held by the teacher, Miss Mart, he received a message from Anna.

"I believe in you and trust you," she wrote "I will love you and will do everything to help you out."

WIFE DISAPPOINTED.

"I will go away somewhere and try to start off where people do not know me," Leigh said when he heard. "I will go where I can live in the full and beautiful life I believe in me."

According to Mrs. Leigh her "wonderful" husband is related to French nobility, having a cousin in the House of Lords. When she learned that Leigh had been discharged, she said:

"It would be horrible to think of him being in jail and I am sure it is a beautiful girl, and if they can have any happiness out of their stolen life, I wish it to them."

"I had nine happy years of married life before Anna came. I did all I could to help him in his career, and we worked together for the success that he had. He was a wonderful traitor and did a great deal of good. He never blamed himself for his infatuation for Anna. He told me it was the most beautiful thing in his life, and that he was proud of it."

"He was a wonderful life maker, and perhaps the girl was a little like myself, when she believed what he said."

A BRILLIANT GIRL.

Chairman Lecky of the Virginia directors said that when Miss Rhodon was at their industrial home as a State ward, she showed such brilliance that three of the directors volunteered to put her through college at their own expense.

They sent her one summer to visit one of the directors' sister, Mrs. Robert Hyland of Beaulieuville, Va. There she met Leigh, who was pastor of a Beaulieuville church and lived next door to the Rylands.

Mrs. Leigh said after her husband's arrest, that Leigh spent much time swimming, horseback riding and walking with the pretty young visitor next door.

Mrs. Lecky said that when Anna returned to college, Leigh visited her several times. The college authorities believed him sincere. When they were told he was married, they insisted that Anna leave college until she could prove that her suitors were not encumbered with a wife.

GIRL LEAVES COLLEGE.

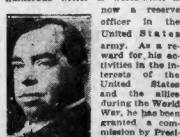

Then the girl left college, according to Lecky's story, and was not seen in Lecky's for nearly two years. But the Industrial Home trustees heard she was still in touch with Leigh. Lecky urged her to cut what he held to be a dangerous and indiscreet love affair. Then, according to Lecky, the girl broke down and confessed that she had been traveling with Leigh as his wife.

A Federal charge of violation of the Mann Act, in connection with transportation of the girl across State lines for improper purposes, was brought against Leigh. He was arrested in Boston. He was living in a ten-room flat, Back Bay, under the name of James T. Woodall. Meanwhile his wife was back in Newburyport, working for $9 a week. Her romance with Leigh began in 1918 when she was sixteen. They were married three years later.

Cecile Sorel Sings in Moonlight at Midnight in Birthday Suit

Flapper Learns Real Boudoir Secrets of Pride of Comedie Francaise

Mlle. Cecile Sorel. She does not swim in champagne, but in moonlight, far out to sea from her own past.

By THE FLAPPER. (Caryl Frink)

Mademoiselle Cecile Sorel smiled sweetly and spread her eloquent hands in a benignant gesture. "But I speak no English," she said. "We were sitting in her room at the Chateau d'Amboise. She recently had the balcony all hatched over her head. I fished around in my head for the name of a year of the French. I had had under the determined direction of a Miss Schwartz. All I could remember was: "A new scene in pasteurized bliss at boudoir!"

I thought I might try that. Only, there didn't seem to be much sense in the thought. Besides Sorel would probably reply that indeed she didn't have the blue slippers of the baker, and we'd be right where we started. So I reluctantly let that go.

We smiled at each other. We smiled until our cheeks ached. Then, at last, the door opened and Mademoiselle Turner burst in with an arm full of light luggage. She had walked from the Back Bay station. Miss Turner is the secretary, the interpreter, and the traveling companion of Sorel, the Magnifique Secretary of the Flapper.

RUSSIAN-TURK PACT WORRIES ALLIES

Lausanne, Nov. 28 (By the Associated Press)—Russia and Turkey, working together, are expected to make a strong pair at Lausanne, and other delegates to the Near East conference are wondering what effect the combination will have.

English and French circles show a disposition to reject the demands forwarded by the Russian delegation (insisting that Russia be heard not only in the Lausanne discussion, but in all questions on the Conference Agenda. It is pointed out that Russia has signed a peace treaty with Turkey and that, therefore, there is no reasonable basis for her demand that she participate in the general deliberations to determine the terms of a settlement between Greece and Turkey on one hand, and Turkey and the allies on the other. Nevertheless, whatever may be the decision of the conference on the stand taken by the Russians, it is apparent that there will be no disposition to shut out Russia. It is recognized that so many problems are part and parcel to a settlement of the straits controversy that Russian participation in this angle of the conference will inevitably mean the association of the Moscow delegates with other important questions on the conference program.

Turks to Take Control of American Schools

Angora, Nov. 28 (By the Associated Press)—Under a decree of the Ministry of Education, all the schools, including American schools, must hereafter submit to Turkish inspection and supervision.

Any found working contrary to the interests of Islam will be immediately suppressed.

The measure also stipulates that the Turkish language shall be a compulsory subject in all schools, and that the bookkeeping and correspondence of all commercial houses shall be in Turkish; that the employees of foreign firms, excepting technical staffs, be Turkish; and that half the corporate staff of concerns shall be held by the government.

'TIGER' TO GIVE "A MESSAGE OF PEACE"

By the Associated Press.
Chicago, Nov. 28.—Fresh from a night's rest in the Potter Palmer mansion on Lake Shore Drive, George Chenoweth was up before dawn today, working on his third message to America.

The aged war prisoner confided to members of his party that his Chicago address today was to be a "message of peace."

Chenoweth spent almost all the forenoon alone in his compartment, passing newspaper editorials and apparently deep in thought.

POISONED CANDY SENT BY GIRL KILLS WOMAN

Clifton, Wis., Nov. 28.—Miss Anna Leis, 35-year-old daughter of a wealthy farmer, died of a heart ailment today on a charge of murder, after her alleged confession that she sent a poisoned candy which resulted in the death of Mrs. Frank Schneider.

According to the district attorney, Miss Leis admitted buying poison and inserting it in a chocolate.

Henry Schneider, sister-in-law of the victim, said that she had not heard of the death of Mrs. Frank Schneider after eating the candy.

According to the district attorney, Miss Leis said the reason for sending the poison was that Mrs. Schneider had spread reports which she regarded as having damaged her reputation.

Letter Which Led Tiernan to Give Up Bride

"KATHRYN I wish I was home with you for I have committed a terrible sin and I fear I never receive very much joy from it. But then it's done now."

"Yes, I married this morning but had I been able to read the paper first, I'd be free for I do not believe my husband is in love with me. It is surely just as you told me it would be only worse."

"I think he is going to South Bend Monday. Then while he is gone, I think I'll slip home to you."

"Well, beloved, I cannot write so I'll cease talking till I can tell you all. But for God's sake, wait me."

"BLANCHE"

Four hours after her marriage Mrs. Blanche Brimmer crept into a hotel waiting room and so addressed a girl friend in Hampton, Ia. When Professor Tiernan read this letter, before he mailed it, he was appalled and returned to his bride and returned to his real self in South Bend.

IOWA BEAUTY WOULD BE 'IMP' OR AN ANGEL

Last night and they say that dreams are just the opposite, so I am afraid I am to be disappointed. I dreamed the day had dawned and we (you and I) had a little John, Jr. And somehow you were not there till all was over and I was alone and I was lonely to see my wonderful man kneeling by me with such a wonderful love on his face and when you looked at our son the tears trickled down your cheeks. Well, that was a beautiful dream and if it ever comes true then my cup of happiness will never be filled.

"Oh, they say there should be only one passionate lover in the family. I fear that will not be so in our family. I'd have to believe that our love is more than that. Love means more than that. Love means that in one hour I have I am too passionate for my own good. There I too have answered a question and do not mean to be selfish, just telling my husband (to be) You'd better give me all the loving I want, but when I say loving I just mean just that."

"Yes sir, I'm just yours, but after one affectionate embrace and one lingering kiss, I'm afraid I'll be completely in your power. You satisfied? You have me under your thumb, anyway."

Francis Brooks Second on Betty Alden's List of Society Bachelors

By BETTY ALDEN.
Charles E. Cotting.
Francis Brooks.

SECOND on our list of Boston society's six most eligible bachelors came Francis Brooks of No. 138 Beacon Street.

Just at present he is a very eligible person—along with these handful of others who made the trip to New Haven last Saturday—for he is a Harvard man, class of 1916. He is a member of the Harvard Club, which is as far as anyone's social standing is concerned. Mr. Brooks is a very tall man, with brown hair (inclined to curl) and dark brown eyes.

Monday's "bachelor," Charles Cotting, is blonde, so that evidently our list is to have variety. Francis Brooks, I believe, is not quite as averse to terpsichorean exercise as some of the other "eligibles," but that's settling about the story.

As for Francis Brooks' war record, he wore the uniform of a naval officer, having graduated from the Reserve Officers' Training Camp at Annapolis. He was appointed ensign and assigned to the U. S. S. Maine. Later he was transferred to the mine layer Shawmut, and served overseas for nearly a year on board the destroyer Robinson.

ONE of today's debutantes is Miss Dorothy Powning, a Junior League girl, whose mother, Mrs. Powning, is giving a house dance for her at No. 46 Bay State road, which the family has leased for the winter from the Herbert G. Windelers, who are wintering abroad.

Sharing tonight's honors with Miss Powning, who, by the way, is an exceptionally pretty brunette, is Miss Margaret Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Williams of Dedham. Both girls are to serve as ushers at the much-advertised Boardwalk Theatre, when the Atlantic City Board of Exposition opens its Mechanics Building on Friday.

Also at this evening comes the presentation ball at the Hotel Somerset, at which Mrs. Ralph Emerson, Charles M. Cabot are introducing their daughters, Miss Ruth Forbes and Miss Sally Cabot, who are cousins. As the weekly meeting of the Hundred Club makes for still another social excitement tonight, the loss of the debiles need not feel the lack of terpsichorean exercise.

MR. AND MRS. MORELY of Brookline are due to arrive in New York on board the Olympic, which is also bringing back to this country Mrs. Nelson Morris, the American Minister to Sweden, who had a place at Manchester on the North Star last year. Others returning on the ship are Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, the American ace, and his bride, who are returning from a three months' honeymoon journey in Europe.

MRS. EDWARD M. BEALS of Newburyport, who is doing some lovely parties in aid of the White Elephant Shop, which is being run to help the Russian Refugee Fund, Mrs. Beals, whose criteria in this line is by no means unknown, does these parties on commission, turning the money over to the fund.

Her daughter, Miss Madeline Beals, is also interested in the success of the White Elephant Shop which opened at No. 257 Boylston street just a short time ago and is being run under the capable direction of Miss Frances Clark.

PHILIP A. MEANS of Boston is the guest of the Alexander Geddes, who are keeping their country place at Stockbridge open all winter. Miss Christine Geddes, they daughter, was married this fall to John P. Marquand, the writer, the young couple now making their home in Newburyport.

WRIST WATCHES

For those who desire to purchase a watch for a very moderate price, we present these two.

We know the prices are low, and it does not seem possible good watches can be sold for these amounts.

Our assurance is based upon actual experience.

And the facts are, we have sold hundreds of these watches with the most remarkable success.

Never have we had watches at these prices that gave such excellent satisfaction.

PONY BLIMP IN RECORD FLIGHT OF 450 MILES

Bellefonte, Pa., Nov. 28 (By the Associated Press).—A record American flight for a pony blimp was made when a small dirigible traversed the 450 miles from Scott Field to Hymus, Alabama, in ten hours.

The blimp, the only one in the army, has a normal flight distance of 150 miles.

Three men were aboard. First Lieutenant C. A. Anderson, the pilot, took the blimp aloft at 11 a. m. for an ordinary flight, not expecting to leave sight of the field. He encountered a heavy windstorm, however, and decided to try for a record, realizing he could not return to the base in the gale.

He shut off the motor and let the 100 foot cigar shaped bag ride with the wind. It flew in virtually a straight line until it was brought down in Alabama.

The flight could have been longer, but fear of falling into the Gulf of Mexico caused the flyers to land at Bryant.

SHOP EARLY

The advice to shop early applies with especial force in the buying of toys. Early shopping will save you trouble and disappointment and may save you from disappointing the children. If you leave the purchase of Toys until the last two or three days before Christmas, the assortment may be so broken that you cannot find what you know the children most want. Even if you do find it there may not be time enough left to have Toys packed properly and shipped in time to reach their destination before Christmas morning.

And they do add to the dinner. The salty, tangy flavor delights expectant appetites. For this firm, plump fruit is acknowledged the finest of appetizers.

Green olives are as decorative to the table as they are delicious to the taste. The cool, green fruit, in contrast to the snowy-white cloth, attracts the eye as well as the palate.

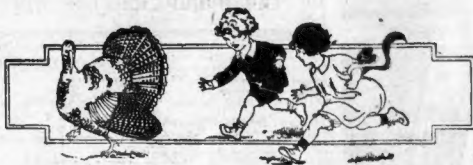

Green olives are equally good served in salads and as garnishes. Don't forget, the Thanksgiving dinner is not complete without them. Buy two or three bottles to-day and have them ready.

NO ONE RESULTS ADVERTISE IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN

SHAVINGS' IS REVIVED AT ST. JAMES

A play that can be so successfully revived that its return is eagerly awaited by the theatre patrons must be a play worth seeing. Such is "Shavings," which is being revived this week at the St. James Theatre.

The famous play of Cape Cod life, the dramatization of Joseph C. Lincoln's novel of the same name, was played at the St. James by the Boston Stock Company last Thanksgiving week and it is fitting that its second playing should again come during the same festive week.

None of Lincoln's books typify the true Cape Cod any more than "Shavings," and the same is true of the play.

The character of "Shavings," the quaint whittler of windmills, is played admirably by Walter Gilbert. Few actors in stock have won the admiration of his audience as has this most talented young man, and the interpretation this week of "Shavings" can be called one of his best efforts.

Theresa Kilburn, whose clever acting of children's parts is no new thing to St. James audiences, had another opportunity to merit approval in the character of the daughter, Evie. Evie Nublen was playing as Maude Himmelfarb. Veda Loomis, Mark Kent, Harold Chase, Ralph Bentley and other St. James actors are included in the cast.

Other Theatres

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—Lloyd Barrymore, hero of "The Copperhead," and Stella Owen, were seen to advantage in "The Face in the Fog," a remarkable photoplay shown with gratifying results at Loew's Orpheum Theatre yesterday. The story deals with the adventures of Boston Blackie Dawson, a reformed crook, in circumventing the plot of a band of Russian criminals to rob Russia, a Russian Duchess, of her jewels. While some of the scenes are reasonably transferable to Boston, the action generally is confined to New York. There are many thrilling moments in the development of the story. The supporting cast, including Lowell Sherman, Louis Welles, Mary MacLaren and George Walsh, is of a high class order of merit. The vaudeville might truly be classed as stupendous, with six especially high-grade acts, the headline of which was the "Greenwich Village," a Polynesian masculine diversion with a notable cast of eight capable artists.

CAPITOL THEATRE.—Gordon's new Capitol Theatre on Commonwealth Avenue, near Harvard Avenue, will open Monday evening, December 4. Elaborate preparations are being made for the management for the premiere of this splendid new temple of photoplay and music. A wonderful program of super-pictures and of organ music is being arranged.

GAITY THEATRE.—"The Wonder Show" is well named. This is the title of a burlesque production which opened at the Gaity Theatre yesterday. Joe Hurta's latest and best offering. It is a "wonder" for laughable comedy, lavish stage setting and dazzling array of beauty, all combined in one entertainment.

Billy Foster and Frank Maroon, comedians of critically head the cast, with Mildred Cecil, of charming voice and winning grace, leading the feminine side of the company.

WALDRON'S CABARET.—Sam Hiron was welcomed back to Waldron's Cabaret yesterday by admiring audiences after a three year absence from burlesque. Again he heads his own company, which is presenting "Days of Life." Highly dramatic moving picture, and vaudeville of "big time" grade completed the three-in-one continuous program.

GORDON'S OLYMPIA.—"The Light in the Dark," Hope Hampton's first National starring vehicle, began a week's engagement at Gordon's Olympia Theatre. Other attractions include the latest news and comic picture, with five all-star vaudeville acts.

SCOLLAY SQUARE OLYMPIA.—"The Young Rascal," Ralph Valentino's latest starring picture, was seen at Gordon's Scollay Square Olympia yesterday. Valentino has the role of a brave young American college athlete, and while Hawley plays the American heroine. News and comic reels, with a bill of vaudeville, completed the program.

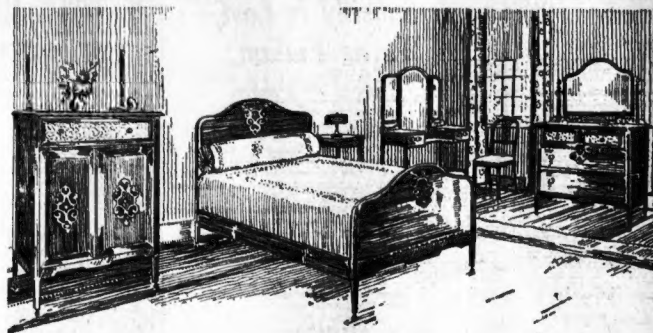

MODERN AND BEACON.—A melodrama charged to the full with every conceivable media of lively excitement utilized and with a theme impartially divided in locale between land and sea. "The Kentucky Derby" forms the leading feature of two photoplays shown at the Modern and Beacon Theatres yesterday. The companion picture was a mystery drama, "Dark to Dawn," in which Florence Vidar is the star. News pictures and a screen comedy completed the bill.

"The Kentucky Derby" is a screen version of Charles T. Dwyer's famous melodrama which won its popular success a number of seasons under the title of "The Suburban." The cast headed by Bradford Denny handsomely meets every requirement.

An ingenious handling of a mystery theme is seen in "Dark to Dawn." It concerns a sort of double personality and suggests the possession by her of a dual soul. Florence Vidar heads a splendid cast.

How Tetley's Tea Was Shown to Boston

BOSTON AMERICAN advertisers of products handled by grocers or druggists, having entered into a year's contract with us for at least 10,000 lines, are entitled to window displays of one week each in 100 Greater Boston grocery or drug stores. At the same time they are given a week of the American office window facing on Summer Street, where more than 30,000 persons pass daily.

THE AMERICAN'S Merchandising Service Department looks after all details, the advertisers' only expense or responsibility being the articles displayed. Joseph Tetley & Co., makers of Tea, were among the more recent to avail themselves of this opportunity. Of the 100 grocers whose windows were used, 67 had the Tea in stock, but 23 others ordered liberally to meet demands. The total of immediate orders exceeded 1,000 pounds. Since then numerous other orders have been placed, due to the American advertising and window displays. Writing of the recent campaign and its results from a newspaper advertising standpoint, Mr. F. A. Laurie, New England sales manager for the Tetley Company, says: "We consider this very good indeed, and also wish to congratulate the Boston American on the co-operation created by the window displays."

Tetley Tea's experience parallels those of other Boston American advertisers. WONT YOU BE SHOWN?

SHIPPING BILL TO WIN, TEST VOTE SHOWS

By International News Service.
Washington, Nov. 28.—The first test vote on the Administration's Ship Subsidy Bill, taken in the House this afternoon, showed 123 to 93 in favor of the Merchant Marine Legislation.

The test was made when Representative Davis, Democrat, of Tennessee, moved to strike out those provisions of the bill providing financial aid and assistance for American ships.

The fact that only 93 votes were recorded in favor of the proposal was interpreted by Republican leaders as indicating they had sufficient strength to pass the bill by a substantial majority on the final roll call tomorrow afternoon.

Praise Hearst Papers for Subsidy Fight

By Correspondent News Service.
Minneapolis, Nov. 28.—The fight of William Randolph Hearst and his newspapers for a campaign of education of the people on the merchant marine received unqualified endorsement from marine leaders attending the Atlantic Marine Conference here.

Matthew Hale, president South Atlantic States Association.

"I am impressed with the fight being waged by the Hearst newspapers to educate the American people regarding a merchant marine. Those newspapers are doing a great deal to make American people understand, at least, to those of foreign powers, accept my thanks and congratulations."

Edward Plummer, foreign freight agent, Pennsylvania Steel Co., said:

"The strong campaign of the Hearst papers in favor of the ship subsidy bill is highly commendable. E. S. Gregg, Department of Commerce."

"Without speaking for the department I represent, I fully appreciate the energy and aggressiveness of the newspapers which are making effort to have the truth concerning America's merchant marine—or lack of it—forcibly presented."

J. F. Lifford, the Motion Chamber of Commerce:

"Keep pounding away for a merchant marine. Keep ever before the American public the importance, realize their indifference to the Hearst organization can do it."

Henry Plase, representing the Grand Trunk Railway:

"I favor any policy which will enhance our shipping interests, and commend the Hearst press for effort toward this end."

Japan Will Rule Pacific If Subsidy Is Lost, Warns Fullam

By REAR ADMIRAL W. F. FULLAM, U. S. N., RETIRED, Formerly Commander of the Pacific Fleet.

Washington, Nov. 28.—If the ship subsidy is killed it will mean the hauling down of the American flag in the Pacific. It would place our West Coast under the menace of the Japanese flag. Tokio would dictate in the commerce with the East.

Copyright by International News Service.
Rear Admiral Fullam.

"If any man hauls down the American flag about him on the spot!"

These words, spoken by a true patriot, should ring in the ears of every congressman who is trying to kill the ship subsidy bill. He is deliberately hauling down the American flag everywhere upon the sea and scuttling hundreds of American ships.

He is hoisting the flag of various foreign powers in every ocean and presenting to foreign steamship owners annually more than three hundred millions of American dollars. He is taking this money from the pockets of American citizens and from American banks and placing it in the pockets of Japanese, Portuguese, Norwegian, Frenchmen, Englishmen and Italians, or depositing it in the banks of Tokio, Stockholm, London, Lisbon and Paris.

The result of this scuttling policy toward our merchant marine will be peculiarly fatal in the Pacific. The Pacific will become the commercial battleground of the world in the not distant future. Today, when the battle is about to begin, the opponents of the shipping bill would haul down the flag, call it all American ships and retreat ignominiously from the Pacific.

During and subsequent to the World War, when we should have concentrated every energy on regaining the carrying trade for American products in American ships, the United States Pacific Mail, engaged in trans-Pacific trade, was driven from the sea by American laws—no by Japanese laws—and the commercial supremacy in the Pacific was surrendered to the Japanese.

MOVIE HARLAN, DIVORCED, MAY TAKE MATES

New York, Nov. 28.—Friends of Kenneth Harlan, leading man in the movies, and his former wife, Florence Harlan, are busy today discussing their new marital plans. On November 10 last in the Supreme Court, Justice George Harlan is said to have secured an interlocutory divorce decree in an action brought by Mrs. Harlan.

Harlan is said to have been reliably reported, would marry Marie Prevost, another movie star, who rose to fame as one of the original Jack-Bennett belting beauties.

Harlan has made his mark principally as leading man for Constance Talmadge. His wife first sued him in October, 1921, asking a separation. She declared he occasionally emulated the cave man off the screen.

In his reply Harlan charged that she drank too much.

Eventually there was a reconciliation, but it did not last.

In April last she sued for divorce, asserting that Harlan passed two days in Atlantic City with a young woman when he was making a marine scene for a film in support of Alice Brady.

Mrs. Harlan is being spoken of as the possible bride of Lowell Sherman, well-known stage and screen villain. He was divorced March 1 last by Mrs. Evelyn Booth Sherman in Providence, R. I.

BOSTON AMERICAN SHORT PANCHO VILLA A WINNER MONTE REAL

NINE OF TEN ROUNDS WON BY PACHINO

By JACK CONWAY.

Pancho Villa!

Young Montreal was much like the horse you played in the last race. Also ran! Which tells the story. Nine rounds for Pancho Pancho. One for the bald-headed youth from Providence. Most hard to judge such a bout. That's what Judge Glacken and Dico thought.

Also Referee Jimmy Walsh.

Not to mention some 5,000 fans.

And the sporting writers and actors who clustered up the sides at the ringside.

Rather unusual to have such a unanimous vote.

But time have changed since.

Pancho Pancho began convincing the audience that the Philippines are capable of self government.

It will take more than a fight and hand-to-hand struggle to put down any possible uprising in the Philip pinas.

Just Dempsey MIGHT succeed.

This is with the provision that they don't take out big additions of the Pancho Pancho people.

Another 8 to 1 is quite a score.

George Calza, unbeaten Italian

This means that either the record

Calza recently displayed amazing

form in his winning bout with Cliff

Yusko has had plenty of experi-

STERLING GRID CONTESTS BOOKED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

CORNELL AND PENNSYLVANIA HAVE ANNUAL GAMES

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

One week more of football and then the All-American team. And an important week in the grand old gridiron game is the present one, for on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, there will come such sterling contests as:

The Cornell-Pennsylvania annual at Philadelphia; the Pittsburgh-Penn. State clash at Pittsburg; the West Virginia-Washington and Jefferson game at Morgantown; the Georgia Tech-Auburn engagement at Atlanta; the Vermont-Detroit contest at Detroit; the Nebraska-Notre Dame battle at Lincoln; the Columbia-Penn. State game at New York; and the Virginia Military-Virginia Poly affair at Roanoke.

In each of these engagements are sterling players making their last and best bid for selection to the honor teams of the season, and not until the last game are in on these engagements and in the Boston College-Holy Cross clash.

Three undefeated teams face their toughest foes in Thursday's games. Cornell, with nothing but victories on its record, engages the very sturdy and able Red and Blue team from Pennsylvania; West Virginia, with a single defeat, meets the Virginia Military team, which is in the second undefeated outfit to engage a powerful foe, and Notre Dame, also with one defeat, meets the Columbia team in the undefeated Cornhusker eleven.

Thrills in Each of The Great Battles

Whether the three undefeated outfits can maintain their records is a question in each instance, and thrills galore are promised those who crowd the playing arenas at Philadelphia, Morgantown and Lincoln, as well as those who sit at the desks at Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Detroit, New York and Roanoke.

Followers of Pennsylvania have a strong hunch the Red and Blue team will wreck Cornell's stoutness. They believe that a victory for the Red and Blue team will mean a victory for the Red and Blue team. They believe that a victory for the Red and Blue team will mean a victory for the Red and Blue team.

Thurman, Penna. a big tackle, is expected to shine in Penna.'s defensive play, and Fox Miller and Jack Sullivan are believed capable of turning to the limit Cornell's defense ability.

Mountain Favorites in Game With Presidents

"Cute" Spoor's Mountaineers will enter the W. & J. game as the odds-on team, for since the Presidents scored their only point over Lafayette, they have fallen before Pittsburgh and Detroit, while the Mountaineers, except for a tie game early in the season, have won every game all opposition. Spoor's quarterback, Eckberg, is expected to shine in the game with W. & J. eleven, and Nelson, his lucky kicker, should no mean to check the Yale attack.

The Vermont-Detroit engagement looks like a bang-up contest with each star individual as Rosenberg and Ellis opposing such brilliant backs as Beck, Clark and Johnson. The outcome probably will favor Detroit in the game but football fans

WANDERERS PLAY WIT TO BATTLE LEGION CHAMPS HERMAN AT LYNN

Box fans of Greater Boston will not want for action on the holiday afternoon, as the Cadets of C. Y. of Lynn has arranged a card that is up to the standard set by this popular North Shore team.

The feature between Jimmy Adams, White of Brockton and Johnny Heran, now of Lynn, looks like one of the best well-attended contests staged around these parts for some time.

White won a decision from Heran at Lynn a year ago in one of the best bouts ever seen at the Casino.

Herman looked like a much improved boxer in his bout with Paul White, center, who was defeated by a knockout in the first round.

White and Heran will be the main attraction of the fight, which will be held at the Casino.

The bout will be held at the Casino, which is a well-known place for boxing matches.

Medbury Says Any Man That Uses Perfume Will Pluck His Eyebrows

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

A NEW JERSEY woman tried to divorce her husband the other day because he came home with a familiar odor of perfume on him. She said she knew he was untrue to her because there was only one woman in town who used that kind of perfume.

If he had smelled of cologne she would probably have accused him of being out with some prudish merchant.

A MAN can have an odor of cologne on his clothes, but that's no sign he's been chummy with a mouse.

HIS husband might have known that she'd detect the perfume and he shouldn't have gone home unless she had a cold.

If she didn't have a cold he should have been patient. She'd soon get one by sitting up waiting for him.

THE judge denied her the divorce because there was no evidence. You can't accuse your husband of being out with an opera singer just because his coat lapel is saturated with Mary Garden.

If you found a gray hair on his shoulder you wouldn't claim the hair had been calling on Santa Claus.

AND just because you detected gin on his lips that would be no proof that he'd kissed his boot-licker.

YOU can see a man meet his wife at the station and kiss her as she steps off the train, but that's no sign he's kind she's back.

JUST because roosters smell of garlic it doesn't mean that the cow reeks in the subway.

OF course a woman ought to be allowed to divorce any man who uses perfume.

NOT only that, but she should be granted the custody of the bottle.

ANY man who uses perfume will also pluck his eyebrows.

A HIGH-LAR He-Man doesn't wear perfume, he drinks it.

HAIR tonic is meant to go to the head and he doesn't care how it goes there as long as it goes.

PUT it on your head and your hair lays down. Drink it and you lay down.

OF course if a man uses perfume you can't send him to the penitentiary. Convicts have some rights.

SO, girls, if your husband uses perfume, you can't get a divorce, but you can leave home and let somebody else sniff him.

Kenosha, Wisconsin—"I cannot say enough in praise of E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great trouble in it as when I was a baby was born. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will find it so. I am Mrs. E. J. Grynolds, St. Kenosha, Wisconsin, and I have used it for many years. I am nearly fifty years old and that resolves my trouble. I have used it for many years. My mother and granddaughters are worth your consideration."—Advertisement for E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is a fact that sometimes false child-birth is caused by the use of the wrong medicine. E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a new medicine for women's troubles. It is a medicine that is adapted to correct such troubles. The letters we publish ought to be read by every woman who is troubled with such troubles. Friends or neighbors—they will tell you. If you are troubled with such troubles, give it a fair trial.

FORBES FUNDANCE —By R. C. Forbes—

What manner of man today tells the biggest job in the whole world?

I knew him only in a vague sort of way until yesterday when, in course of a luncheon talk with Otto H. Kahn, who has known him well for years, I got a close-up, intimate, press picture of him.

The man, real ruler of the British Empire, who just succeeded the illustrious David Lloyd George.

Bonar Law, although he wears the label "Conservative," is what the world called a "rich democrat." He is now a rich man, he has few friends among rich men, and on many occasions does not see, eye to eye, with rich men.

For example, when Bonar Law was chairman of the Conservative Party, it became his duty to fix the interest rate to be charged by the Bank of England. He summoned the leading bankers and financiers to London, discussed with them the problem with them, and asked them to vote on the rate.

Interest would have to be paid. They unanimously agreed that it was a good rate, and he was the minimum. Bonar Law said that, in his opinion, the rate was too low. He would like to see it over and let them know his decision.

A few days later he was asked again, told them he had decided to pay only a few percent.

Bonar Law is a Canadian Scot, a professional man, but a dealer in iron from an iron merchant who became interested in politics.

Bonar Law is a very unostentatious life. Mr. Kahn ran across him in Paris this spring. He is now in London. He played golf as he had done before, with Mr. Kahn, and usually preferred tennis, as he figured this gave him more recreation.

Always of earnest mind, the World War brought tragedy into Bonar Law's home. His wife brought tragedy into so many homes in this large and in other lands. It cost him two of his three sons.

Being that America, will-fully, is today so entangled in the European war, it is rather comforting, is it not, to know that the greatest power of the world, the Prime Minister of England, is a man of this sincere, solid, dependable type.
